

Vienna Visit – July 2015

The visit to Austria showed Austrian education is not heavily reliant on technology such as computers, internet, etc. Therefore pupils are expected to use public libraries and school books as their primary resource. This system can be beneficial because it requires pupils to research outside of school and it help to encourage self learning for each individual pupil.

Sofinah Khatun