

My name is Ravinder Taggar and I have worked with GOAL for a number of years. Recently I have adopted a new role as the Language Support Assistant. This role was very challenging for me, but with the support of my very supportive colleagues I have settled very well into my new role.

I have worked in the community for many years and over time I have developed an understanding and built relationships with all my learners.

I feel very proud in my new role, supporting the learners in improving their English language which will help them progress with their life in the UK.
